Child Protection Policy

Introduction

The Diversity & Inclusion Institute was established in 2021 in Athens, Greece, aspiring to promote equal opportunities and diversity respect in the workplace and in the society, by promoting the Diversity in the workplace Charter and organizing initiatives and projects in compliance with its principles and by promoting the values of respect, tolerance and equality among European citizens. As a non-governmental organization, whose work complies with the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC), D&I is committed to ensuring the fulfilment of children's rights including their rights to protection. D&I is committed to protecting children from harm and ensuring that children's right to protection under Article 19 of the UNCRC is fully realised. We take seriously our responsibility to promote child safe practices and protect children from harm, abuse, neglect and exploitation in any form. In addition, we will take positive action to prevent all kinds of child abuse and all D&I Staff, D&I Experts and Research Associates, and D&I volunteers and D&I interns are committed to fight for children rights and are guided by the principle of 'the best interests of the child'.

Safeguarding and protecting children's rights is a core principle of D&I and we are all committed to protecting children from harm, abuse, neglect and exploitation. D&I is committed to following and implementing the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (1989), which is the most important text on children's rights, ratified by 194 countries. It was ratified by Greece on December 2, 1992 under Law 2101/92 as the "United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child" (hereinafter referred to as the UNCRC) and is a national law with increased formal validity, ie it takes precedence in the event of a contrary provision of law.

The child is now recognized as a subject of law recognizing the individual, political, economic, social and educational rights which are distinguished in (Greek Ministry of Justice):

- Protection, benefits and participation rights.
- Protection rights (against all forms of abuse, exploitation, discrimination, etc.)
- Benefit rights (in education, health, welfare, entertainment, etc.)
- Participation rights (right to express an opinion, information, leisure time, etc.).

Knowledge and acceptance of Child Protection Policy is a prerequisite for the recruitment of D&I employees, who are committed to behaving respectfully and in harmony with D&I's Child Protection Policy.

C. Principles

This policy is informed by a set of principles that are derived from the UNCRC and include the following:

1. All children have equal rights to be protected from abuse and exploitation.
2. Each child has a fundamental right to life, survival and development. D&I's child-centred community development approach provides a basis for ensuring the realisation of children's rights to be protected from harmful influences, abuse and exploitation.
3. All children should be encouraged to fulfil their potential, and inequality and discrimination should be challenged.
4. Children will be assured the right to express their views freely and this will be given 'due weight' in accordance with their age and level of maturity. We will not discriminate against the child. The child will be treated with respect irrespective of gender, nationality or ethnic origin, religious or political beliefs, age, physical or mental health, sexual preference and gender identity, family, socio-economic and cultural background, or any history of conflict with the law.
5. All D&I Staff, D&I Experts and Research Associates, D&I volunteers and interns, External Staff, Country (Greece) Offices and Offices abroad have a responsibility to support the care and protection of children.
6. The document for the CPP is posted online on the official page of D&I, it will be attached to each project of D&I that will involve children (also will be provided to all partners in each project), so that every child and family has access to it.

7. D&I has particular responsibilities to children who come into contact with us. No child must come to harm as a result of their engagement with D&I as a participant in a D&I program or as part of any D&I awareness-raising or public campaign.
8. These particular responsibilities extend to those individuals or organisations, who are associated with D&I. Therefore, everyone working for or associated with D&I's work must be aware of and adhere to the provisions of this policy.

F. Incident identification and reporting guidelines

The guidance provides the framework and mechanism for incident identification and reporting. The way to remember the procedure for Child Protection incidents, suspicions, concerns or disclosures is the 5R's: Recognise, Respond, Record, Report, and Refer.

Recognise

Child abuse occurs when adults inflict or fail to stop physical, psychological or other harm occurring to children. Abuse can be categorised as:

Emotional Abuse: It is the persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to children that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only in so far as they meet the needs of another person. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children or preventing the child participating in normal social interaction. Also, it may involve the child seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another or causing children to frequently feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children.

Physical Abuse: It may involve hitting, poisoning, shaking, throwing, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating, or otherwise causing physical harm to a child, including by fabricating the symptoms of, or deliberately causing illness in a child.

Sexual Abuse: It involves forcing or enticing a child to take part in sexual activities, including prostitution, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including penetrative or non-penetrative acts. They may include involving children in looking at, or in the production of, pornographic material or watching sexual activities or encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways

Neglect: It is the persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the Child's health or development, such as failing to provide adequate food and clothing, shelter including exclusion from home or abandonment, failing to protect a child from physical and emotional harm or danger, failure to ensure adequate supervision including the use of inadequate care-takers, or the failure to ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment. It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs.

Child Sexual Exploitation: It is a type of sexual abuse in which children are exploited for money, power or status.

These can occur individually or together, and the perpetrator of abuse is most often someone known to the child, for example, a member of school staff or a family member.

If anyone hears, or suspects, that a child is being abused or is at risk of being abused, even if the truth of the disclosure is uncertain, he/she must respond in accordance with these procedures and report it to the Social Service Manager.

Respond

For disclosures or allegations, the person reporting the abuse should not be interrogated at first, but what they have to say is accepted, and reassurance that the person reporting the abuse has done the right thing should be offered.

Record

Careful notes of what was said by both the Social Service Manager and the person reporting should be kept. Recording should be kept factual, with no reference to subjective opinions.

Report

All D&I Staff, D&I Experts and Research Associates, D&I volunteers/interns and External Staff should report any incident within 24 hours of the initial suspicion or disclosure. It is the duty of any member of D&I team who finds out about a possible case of abuse to report it to the Social Service Manager. It is not a person's duty to decide whether or not a suspicion or allegation is true.

Refer

With the exception of when a child is in immediate danger when the emergency services must be contacted, it is the Social Service Manager's responsibility to act immediately on receipt of a report, and definitely within 24 hours of receiving it. Referrals should be made in line with the relevant law and guidance in the country in which the abuse is said to have taken place. In addition, if the potential abuser is employed by an organization registered in another country, it may be necessary to inform the authorities in that country as well. Any allegation involving a Greek national (whether it occurred in this country or overseas) should be reported to the Greek police.

G. Implementation, Monitoring and Sanctions

The Board of D&I is accountable for this policy and responsible for its implementation. The Social Services Manager is responsible for the implementation of CPP and the person in charge of the communication with children, parents and their legal representatives. If the person who reports seeks information for additional support and consultation, the social service manager is responsible for providing guidelines and contacts.

The monitoring of adherence to this policy is made through the mandatory tracking of the Child Protection Policy Implementation Standards and D&I's Code of Conduct by all parts of D&I.

Breaches of this policy and failure to comply with these responsibilities may incur the following sanctions:

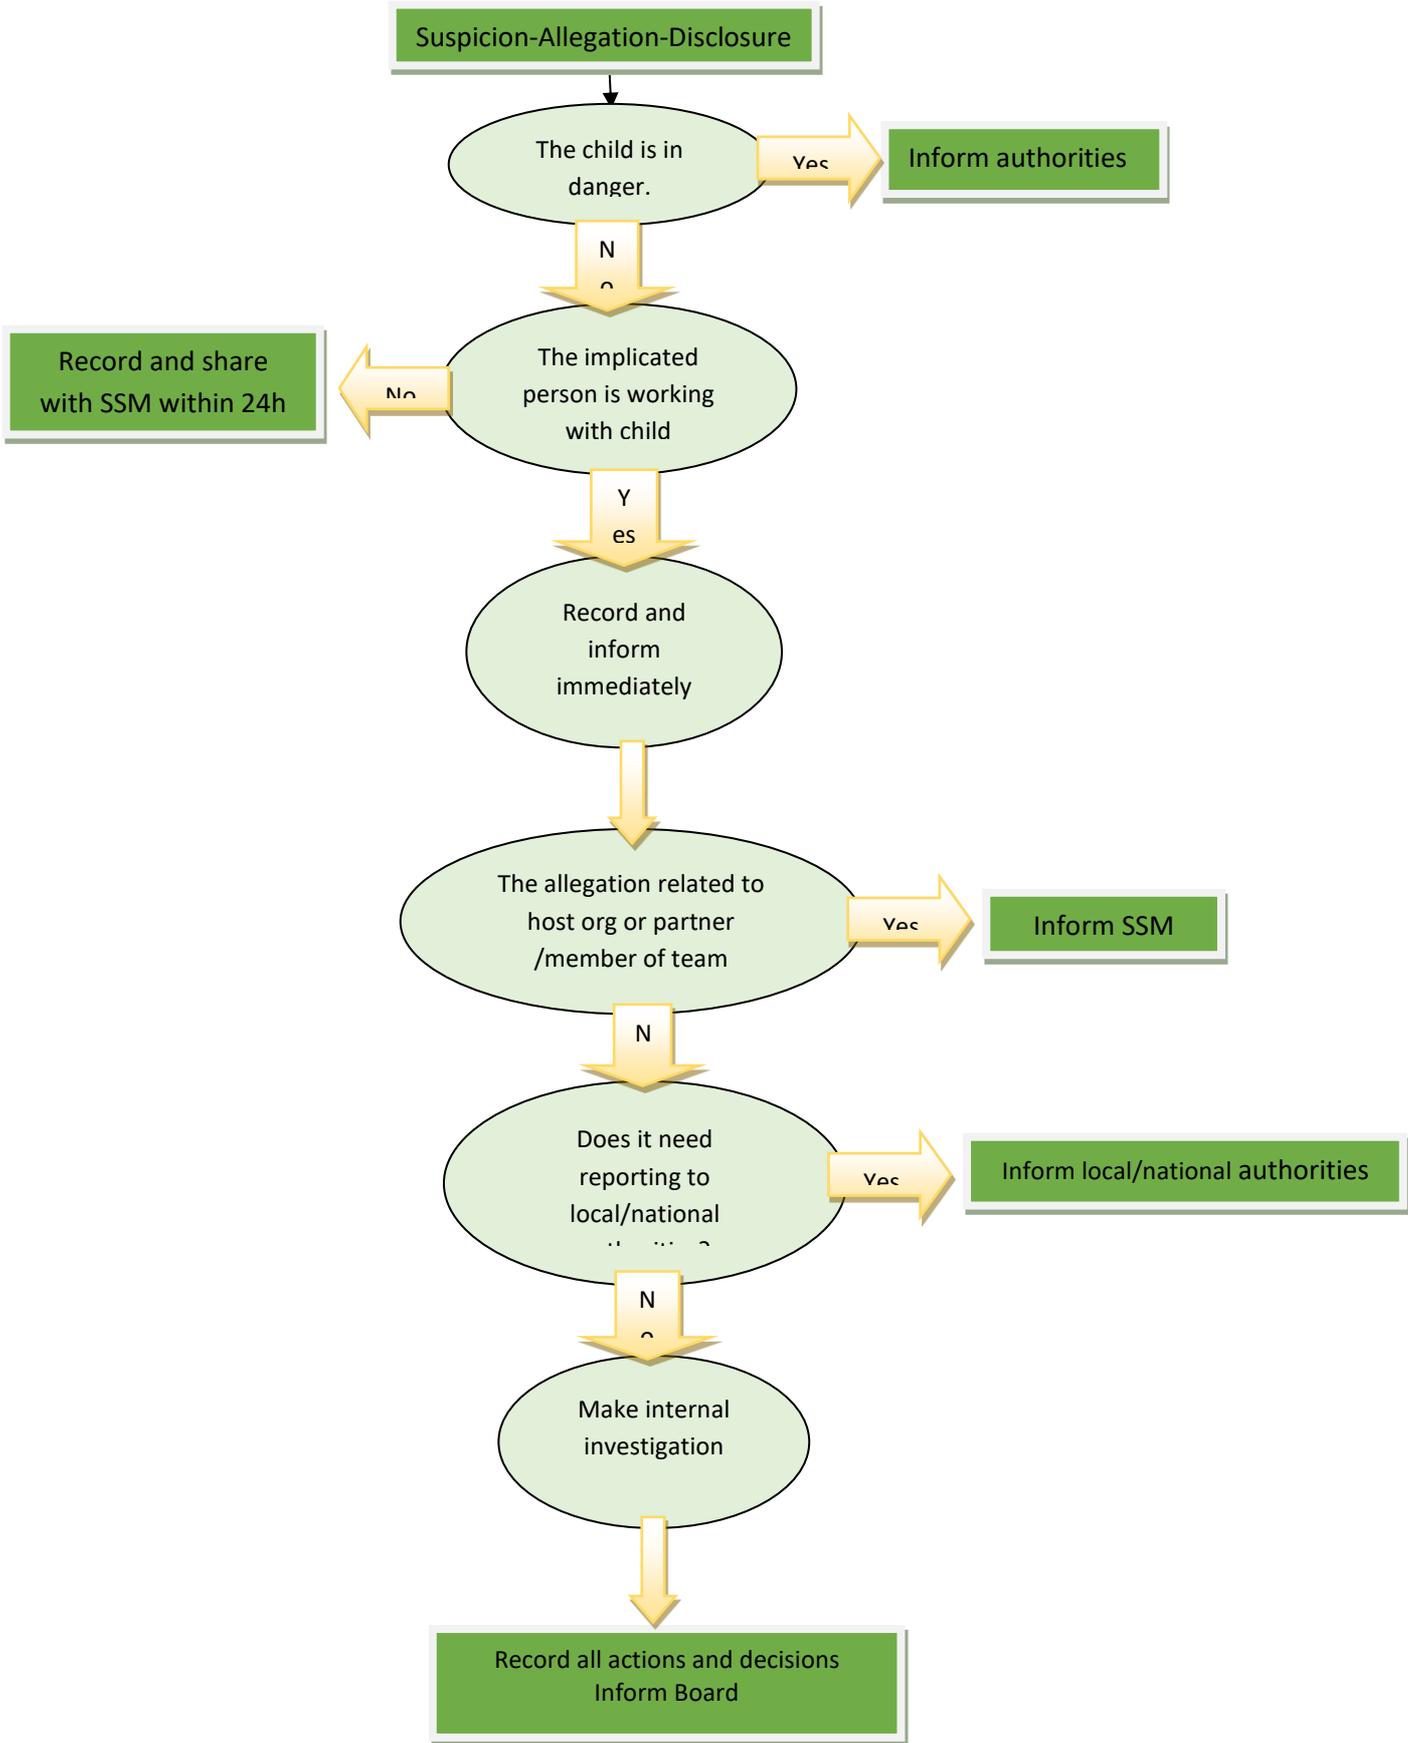

- For D&I Staff - disciplinary action leading to possible dismissal.
- For D&I Experts and Research Associates, Volunteers/interns and External Staff - up to and including termination of all relations including contractual and partnership agreements with D&I.

- Where relevant - appropriate legal or other such actions.

Where concerns exist about the conduct of D&I Staff, D&I Experts and Research Associates, D&I volunteers/interns and External Staff in relation to Child protection and/or where there has been a breach of the Child Protection Policy, this will be investigated under this policy by consideration of referral to statutory authorities for criminal investigation under the law of the country in which they work; and/or by D&I in accordance with disciplinary procedures. This may result in disciplinary action for D&I Staff.

Child Protection Reporting Process

H. Selection and Training of the Staff

When there is a vacancy in D&I, an advertisement and/or a call is published, containing a description of the organisation, a job description, selection criteria and necessary documents.

- The selected candidate is provided with a copy of the Child protection policy and he/she signs a declaration certifying that he/she has read, understood and undertaken to comply with it.
- Each newly appointed staff member undergoes training in a pre-designed program, which aims to acquaint him/her with the vision, goals and organisation of work in the association, as well as policies and procedures regarding child protection.
- Each employee also receives continuing training for recognising the signs of violence and taking measures to protect children.
- When the organisation involves volunteers or interns, applicants participate in the same procedure.
- The members of the Board of Managers and the General Assembly of the association are promptly informed about the policy of Opportunity and Protection Association in relation to child protection. They receive a copy of the Child protection policy and sign a declaration certifying that they have read, understood and undertaken to comply with it.
- Individuals employed as independent contractors receive a copy of the Child protection policy and sign a declaration certifying that they have read, understood and will comply with it.

J. Personal Conduct

D&I does not dictate the belief and value systems by which D&I Staff, D&I Experts and Research Associates, D&I volunteers/interns and External Staff conduct their personal lives. However, actions taken by them out of working hours that are seen to contradict this policy will be considered a violation of this policy.
